

All Programs:

- Students will develop a gerontological perspective through knowledge and self-reflection
- Students will engage collaboratively with others to promote integrated approaches to aging
- Students will learn to promote life-long learning opportunities across the life span to enhance personal development social inclusion and quality of life

Masters of Arts in Gerontology (MAG)

- Students will utilize gerontological frameworks to examine human development and aging.
- Students will relate psychological theories and science to understand adaptation, stability, and change in aging.
- Students will relate social theories and science of aging to understanding heterogeneity, inequality, and context of aging.
- Students will develop comprehensive and meaningful concepts, definitions and measures for the well-being of older adults and their families, grounded in Humanities and Arts
- Students will promote older persons' strengths and adaptations to maximize well-being, health, and mental status
- Students will promote quality of life and positive social environment for older persons
- Students will learn to employ and generate policy to equitably address the needs of older persons