With its unique multidisciplinary approach to research, education, and service, the USC Davis School provides a fertile environment for the production of new knowledge, providing the crucial answers to important questions that will shape the future of our aging society. Founded in 1964, the Andrus Gerontology Center was the first major research institution in the nation devoted entirely to the study of aging. In 1975, it was expanded with the creation of the USC Davis School of Gerontology.

Proceeds from the tournament will provide scholarships for USC Davis School students. Your support will ensure that the USC Davis School continues its mission to provide leadership in research and education that will increase our understanding of human development over the lifespan and to translate this knowledge into practical applications to promote healthy aging.

Honoree Patricia Will
A graduate of Harvard University Business School, Mrs. Will co-founded and currently serves as President of Belmont Village LP. Her company operates assisted living communities and has grown to include 25 locations nationwide. Belmont’s buildings are renowned for their distinctive architecture and high standards of life safety. Belmont’s resident care programs have earned the trust of residents and families and the respect of healthcare professionals. The assisted living communities are designed to provide an ideal balance of opportunities and support so that residents can live each day to the fullest. Patricia has been a member of USC Davis School’s Board of Councilors since 2014.
