The next questions will be very different from the ones that you have been asked up to now. We would like to ask you some questions about your (subject's) parents, children, and their families.

The reason for our asking about your family is that by understanding the circumstances of present-day Japanese families we hope to see proposals that are more firmly-grounded in reality coming forth as national long-term care policies.

For this purpose, we will ask you questions about the education and occupation, etc. of your children and their spouses. We are asking these same questions both to healthy people as well as those currently using long-term care in order to perform a statistical analysis.

We understand that we will be asking some personal questions, and ask for your understanding of the purpose of this survey. We greatly appreciate as much information as you are able to offer.

Q55. These questions are about your (subject's) parents.

Q83. As society changes, aspects resulting from these changes have been becoming issues of debate. The following is about these issues. Have you ever heard of abuse of the elderly?

1 Yes
↓

2 No
→ Go to the section marked “(Telephone Number).”

SQ1. What do you consider to constitute abuse of the elderly? Please tell me what in particular you personally would believe to be abuse of the elderly. (M.A.)

[Note to interviewer] Rather than reading the list of choices and having the subject select one, encourage the subject to offer his or her own opinion on the topic. Then, look among the choices and select the response closest to the opinion offered by the subject. If none of the choices seem suitable, then record the opinion of the subject under “7. Other.”

- 1 Verbal abuse or language designed to hurt or cause pain
- 2 Withholding of food or meals, or providing only coarse meals
- 3 Treating as if a nuisance
- 4 Children not taking care of their elderly parents, but instead moving them into a nursing home or convalescence center.
- 5 Treating senior citizens like feeble, helpless people and not allowing them freedom or independence
- 6 Commandeering funds and not allowing the senior citizen to use his or her own funds
- 7 Other (Please explain:)

SQ 2. Do you know any senior citizens who have been a victim of abuse? This does not include people you have seen or heard about on TV, in movies or magazines, etc.

1 Yes

2 No
