Explore how religion and culture have shaped centuries of death rituals, burial practices, and mourning customs. Through class discussions and site visits, you'll uncover how faith and culture have shaped attitudes toward life and death, and how this historical contexts continue to influence modern practices today.

"If you are looking to open your mind, push yourself to the limit, bond with fellow Trojans and make incredible friendships alongside an amazing and dedicated professor this class is just for you!"

-Roberta Peterson, MSG
