Field Trips Include: Westminster Abbey |
Tower of London | Covington Gardens |
Stonehenge | Edinburgh Castle | Loch
Ness | Trinity College | St. Patrick's
Cathedral | Dublin Castle

Travel to England, Scotland, Northern Ireland, & Ireland to learn the fundamentals of genetics and the role the environment plays in longevity and health outcomes.

Use the frameworks of local folklore and fiction as the basis of understanding the history of genetic studies and what ignites the gerontological imagination in the development of the science of senescence.

Explore three distinct longitudinal studies of specific populations while considering the broader cultural aspects of age and aging.
