

Jon Pynoos, PhD

Jon Pynoos is the UPS Foundation Professor of Gerontology, Policy and Planning at the Leonard Davis School of Gerontology at the University of Southern California. He is also Director of the National Resource Center on Supportive Housing and Home Modification, and Co-Director of the Fall Prevention Center of Excellence which has been funded primarily by the Archstone Foundation. He is a recognized national and international expert on housing and aging in place. Dr. Pynoos has spent his career researching, writing, and advising the government and private sector concerning how to improve housing and long-term care policies and programs for the elderly. He has conducted a large number of applied research projects based on surveys and case studies of housing, aging in place and long-term care. He has written and edited six books on housing and the elderly and was a delegate to several White House Conferences on Aging. Dr. Pynoos has been awarded both Guggenheim and Fulbright Fellowships. He holds undergraduate, Master's and PhD degrees from Harvard University where he graduated Magna cum Laude.